A MESSAGE FROM CHIEF SCOTT E. SCHUBERT

Annual Statistical Report

2021

It is my great honor each year to present the Annual Report on behalf of the men and women who serve the Pittsburgh Bureau of Police and the City of Pittsburgh.

The 2021 Annual Report is an occasion to reflect on the multi-faceted work of the Bureau's branches, highlight our awards and accomplishments, celebrate our promotions and retirements, and reaffirm our commitment to working and connecting with communities. It also provides an opportunity to recognize areas where we can improve, evolve, and change.

I would like to thank our Crime Analysis Unit for meticulously compiling multiple data sets throughout the year to ensure that we are able to produce the most comprehensive and transparent information to inform our work. At the heart of what our officers do, is our solemn pledge to serve the City's residents and visitors with the highest level of professionalism, courage, integrity, respect and compassion.

This commitment has not wavered in spite of the many challenges the Bureau has faced over the past two years.

The Covid-19 pandemic that began in 2020 continued to impact law enforcement operations in 2021, as it did most sectors, disrupting all facets of normal life. The Pittsburgh Bureau of Police was not immune. Over the course of the year, many sworn members and civilians would contract the virus. As a Bureau, and as a family, we were on tenterhooks each time someone became sick, praying the impact of the virus would be minimal and the recovery time, quick.

Ultimately, three of our members did not recover from its deadly grip. We honor the memory and service of Sergeant Richard Howe, Sergeant Timothy Werner, and Officer Brian Rowland who passed away in 2021 from complications from Covid-19.

At times throughout the year, the impact of the virus waned with the availability of vaccines and booster shots. There were moments when the number of personnel testing positive for the virus would fall, followed by a surge in the Omicron variant that forced us all to remain vigilant and wear masks to protect one another and the community. I would like to thank the Pittsburgh Police Pandemic Command and Pandemic Wellness groups for their painstaking work over the past two years to protect personnel, equipping them with personal protective equipment, tracking the course of recovery for affected members and apprising the Bureau of the latest Covid-19 mitigation measures and CDC guidance.

A MESSAGE FROM CHIEF SCOTT E. SCHUBERT

While we remain cautious in this new normal, at the time of writing there has been another welcome reprieve from the worst of the virus. It has afforded our officers the ability to engage directly once again with youth in our schools and communities, building the trust and camaraderie that is pivotal to the work we do. To be able to hold Student Police and Citizens Police Academy classes in person again is a great feeling. While our officers are nimble and we all adapted to pandemic measures such as virtual connections with communities, there's nothing quite like working face to face with young people and community groups in the City.

We need this now more than ever, as the most troubling carry-over from the pandemic is the increase in violent crime, particularly gun violence. This is a national phenomenon, but it is unacceptable in Pittsburgh. This is not reflective of the city we know and love. People are clearly hurting and they need to know that Pittsburgh Police can be a valuable resource. We can help connect people with resources available within their communities. We are here to help. That is why, as Chief, I am a fervent believer in relational policing. To me, this is not a concept or an initiative. It is our mission. It is how I approach the job on a daily basis. I ask our officers to do the same.

This type of community engagement is also important in addressing one of the Bureau's most pressing challenges, which is attracting new officers to join our ranks.

Pittsburgh Police are special in that so many of the officers who chose this profession and this department have stayed with us for decades, rising up the ranks to become supervisors and mentors. The opportunities within the Pittsburgh Bureau of Police are unparalleled in our region, which is why many of them served their entire careers with the Bureau. At this time, many of those officers and supervisors are eligible to retire after more than 20-plus years of service. Our goal is to recruit and retain a whole new generation of officers, who bring a fresh perspective, reflect the communities we serve, and subscribe to the tenets of 21st Century Policing.

That is why the following pages are more than a collection of graphs, tables and numbers. They represent people and communities who deserve safe streets and safe homes. Appointed with this valuable statistical information, the Pittsburgh Bureau of Police strives to move through 2022 with a renewed and conscious commitment to continue building on our successes but, more importantly, learning from and improving in the areas that are calling out for more attention and care.

It is only in this manner that we can continue to create a more inclusive, equitable, and just City of Pittsburgh for everyone.

BUREAU ACCREDITATION

Annual Statistical Report

2021

1. Pittsburgh City Code, § 116.02, paragraph I.D. requires that the Bureau of Police attain and maintain accreditation. To attain that accreditation, the Pittsburgh Bureau of Police has chosen to utilize the Pennsylvania Law Enforcement Accreditation Program. In 2019 the Pittsburgh Bureau of Police achieved our second re-accreditation with Chief Schubert being presented with the plaque in March 2019.

2. What is Accreditation? The Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police Association introduced the Pennsylvania Law Enforcement Accreditation Program to the Commonwealth in July 2001. Since then, over 250 agencies have enrolled and 45 agencies currently maintain accredited status.

Accreditation is a progressive and time-proven way of helping institutions evaluate and improve their overall performance. The cornerstone of this strategy lies in the promulgation of standards containing a clear statement of professional objectives. Participating administrators then conduct a thorough analysis to determine how existing operations can be adapted to meet these objectives. When the procedures are in place, a team of independent professionals is assigned to verify that all applicable standards have been successfully implemented. The process culminates with a decision by an authoritative body that the institution is worthy of accreditation.

The Pennsylvania Law Enforcement Accreditation Program was designed and developed by professional law enforcement executives to provide a reasonable and cost-effective plan for the professionalization of law enforcement agencies within the Commonwealth. The underlying philosophy of the program is to have a user-friendly undertaking for the departments that will result in a "success" oriented outcome.

Pennsylvania's law enforcement professionals want the program to be consistent and achievable for all types and sizes of law enforcement agencies within Pennsylvania.

3. Accreditation Program Phases The Accreditation program is broken down into three steps or phases:

Phase One: Application

PLEAC Description: The police department and local government officials make the joint decision to pursue police accreditation. Together, they notify the accreditation staff at the Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police Association via a Letter of Intent. Staff then provides all materials to begin the accreditation process. Not only does the agency receive the manuals, but also organizational materials such as labels for the accreditation folders and a software tracking program. A video is included to assist the police agency in concisely explaining the program to their staff. A free training class is also available for newly appointed Accreditation Managers and their Chief. There is a one-time fee of $100 to participate in the Pennsylvania Law Enforcement Accreditation program.

BUREAU ACCREDITATION

Annual Statistical Report

2021

Phase Two: Self-Assessment

PLEAC Description: The Accreditation Manager will begin the process internally by performing a self-assessment of the agency. This begins as an exercise in comparison. The Accreditation Manager will compare how the current policies comply with the program's standards. Most agencies will discover that they are closer to compliance than anticipated.

When the agency has completed the self-assessment phase, it will want to host a mockassessment. This is a final review to ensure a smooth assessment in Phase Three. Staff is available throughout the process, offering 12 support and guidance to ensure every agency's success. In addition, several localized coalitions have been formed by Accreditation Managers to assist one another. There is also a state coalition that can be very helpful.

The main component in achieving accreditation is policy development. All policies identified for revision follow a specific protocol which includes review by the Pittsburgh Police Command Group consisting of forty-five members of the Pittsburgh Bureau of Police. This group also includes the entire Command Staff and the Public Safety Director), Fraternal Order of Police, The Independent Civilian Police Review Board, and the Pittsburgh Commission on Human Relations. It is a comprehensive process and requires a significant amount of time. The accreditation team uses model policies identified by the International Association Chiefs of Police and the Pennsylvania Law Enforcement Accreditation Commission. When appropriate, the accreditation team meets with subject matters experts both internal to and external of the Pittsburgh Bureau of Police.

File creation consists of documentation the PLEAC assessors will use to determine if the PBP has the appropriate policy in place to meet each individual standard. The files consist of two proofs that demonstrate the policy is in use consistently bureau wide. These proofs may be demonstrated by highlighting an officer's narrative in an investigative report dealing with that particular standard. File creation is complete and the centerpiece of the mock and on-site inspection.

Phase Three: Formal Assessment

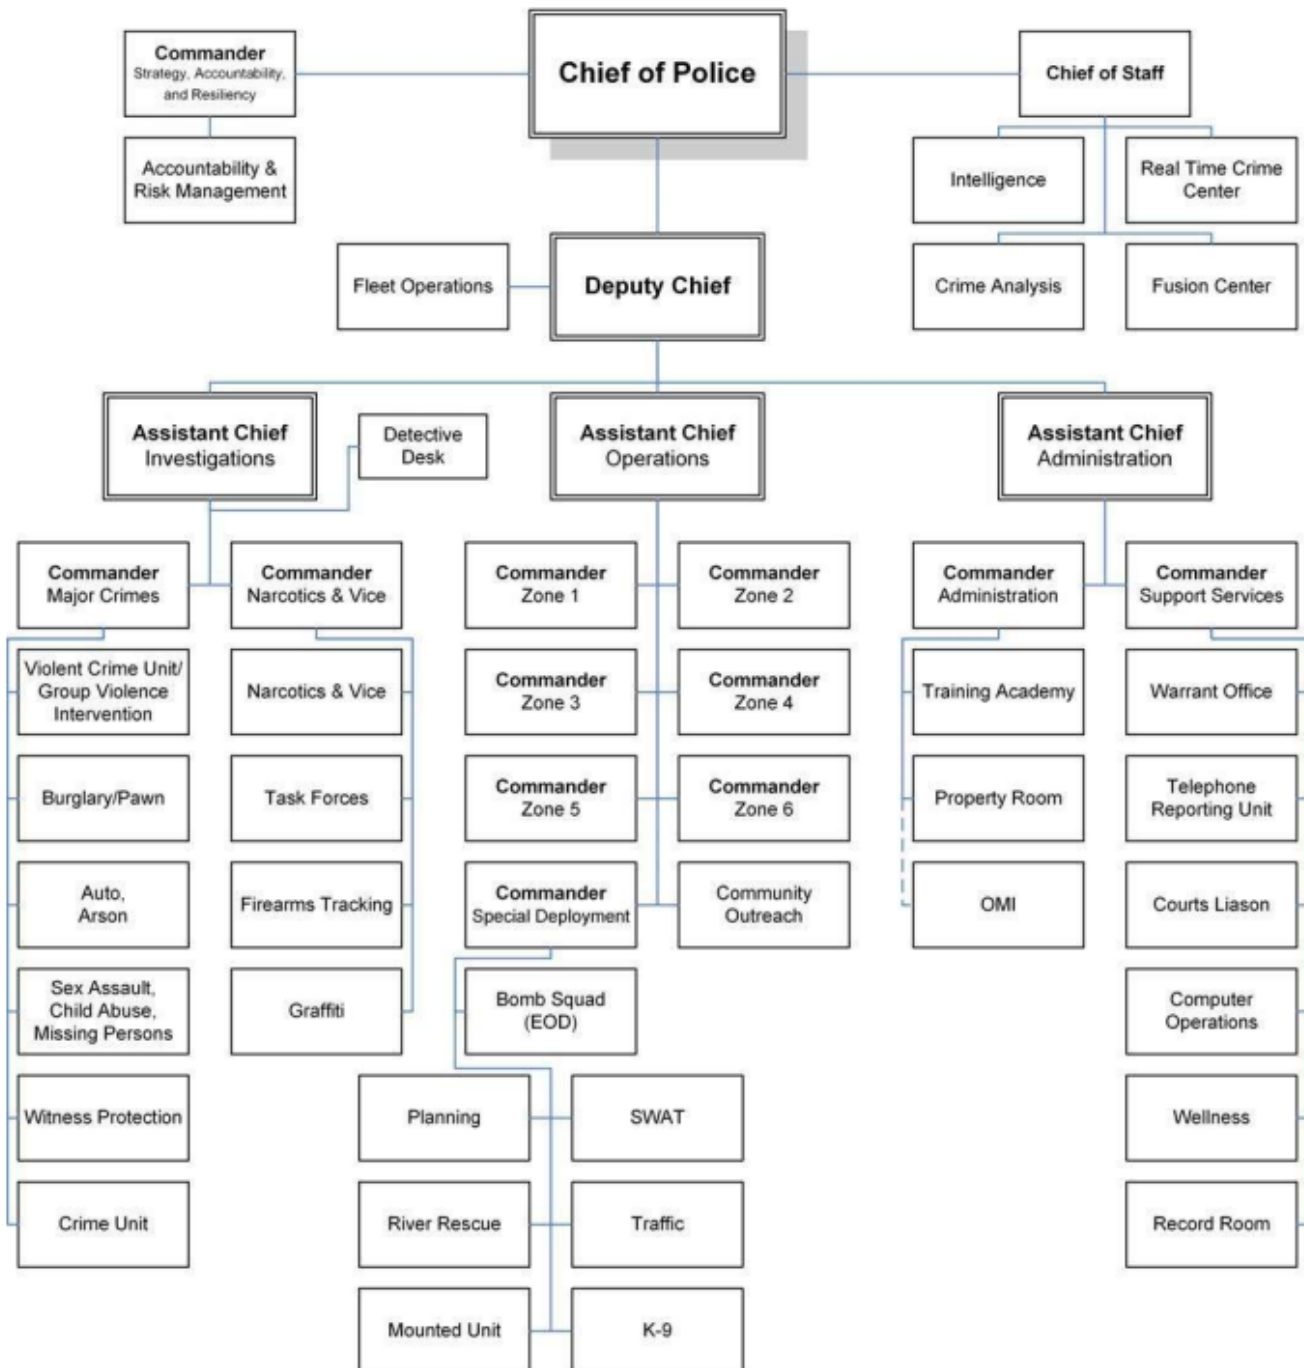

PLEAC Description: The final phase of the accreditation process is the Commission assessment. Trained assessors will do an on-site, two-day review of agency files ensuring compliance with all standards. Please note that the assessment is a success-oriented process. Your accredited status will remain valid for a three-year period. With accredited status, your agency may experience insurance savings; stronger community relations; and increased employee input, interaction and confidence in the agency.

2021 CIT Highlights

The City of Pittsburgh's Office of Community Health and Safety (OCHS) and Bureau of Police were awarded a Crisis Response and Intervention Team (CRIT) technical assistance and training grant from the U.S. Bureau of Justice Administration to further develop an effective model for police to identify what co-responders can best help in emergency situations. Pittsburgh was one of three cities selected to be a part of this Bureau of Justice Assistance's Academic Training to Inform Police Responses initiative and the only city selected for enhanced technical assistance. The initiative is managed by the University of Cincinnati School of Criminal Justice with its partners Policy Research Associates, The Arc of the United States' National Center on Criminal Justice and Disability and the International Association of Chiefs of Police. Much of the technical assistance and training will take place in 2022. Pittsburgh has been able to take part in multiple best practice briefings with departments across the country to aid in the building of an improved crisis response in Pittsburgh.

Immediately following the 2021 CIT International Convention in Phoenix, the PBP and OCHS began planning and preparation for the 2022 CIT International Conference, to be held in Pittsburgh in August 2022. The three-day conference drew approximately 1200 attendees last year and the PBP Employee Wellness and Resource Coordinator will serve as Co-Chair for the Pittsburgh conference.

Officers from the PBP Training Academy and Wellness Units sat on the interview panel for the OCHS Community Social Worker candidates. The CSWs will be part of the co-response model for crisis response. Three CSWs were hired in 2021 and more are expected to be hired in 2022.

Partnered with Dr. Sheila Roth of OCHS on OCHS's High Utilizer Program, along with the Pittsburgh Bureau of Fire and Pittsburgh EMS, to work with individuals with untreated medical issues or high engagement with 911 and to connect those people with social and health services.

The PBP began a partnership with Pathways to Care and Recovery to help support people in crisis who are experiencing substance use disorder and gives officers a resource to assist the citizens that they serve.

Domestic Violence Unit Annual Statistical Report 2021

The data outlined in this report reflects figures from the Pittsburgh Bureau of Police Domestic Violence Unit (PBP DVU) case log, juxtaposed with Intimate Partner Violence calls for service (IPV CFS) that were received by the Allegheny County 911 Center for Pittsburgh Police response. In 2021, there were 1,549 Intimate Partner Violence incidents that were reported in the City of Pittsburgh.

The data evidenced in this report reflects Domestic Violence incidents that involve intimate partners only. Intimate Partner Violence (IPV) describes harmful acts that could include physical, emotional, financial, psychological, or sexual behaviors that occur between heterosexual or same-sex couples.

Intimate Partner Violence incidents were determined by responding Pittsburgh Bureau of Police Officers using PBP policy and the guidelines offered in the Maryland Lethality Assessment Protocol (LAP). The LAP is an identification tool used to determine which victims of Intimate Partner Violence are at highest risk of being seriously injured or killed by their intimate partners. The Domestic Violence Unit was referred every case in which an LAP was completed, either by the victim or by the responding officer. Over the course of the year, several incidents were referred to the Domestic Violence Unit after an LAP was completed, even though that incident did not meet the guidelines of an Intimate Partner Violence incident. While those cases are not included in the statistics noted in this report, they are referenced accordingly, as DVU detectives may have offered resources to the victim.

Due to the complexity of Domestic Violence cases, it is possible that the data below includes calls that extend beyond Intimate Partner Violence.

Analytic Findings

- In 2021, 1,549 total Intimate Partner Violence incidents occurred in the City of Pittsburgh. IPV Incidents rose 7% from 2020 (1,445 IPV Incidents). The total number of incidents were calculated from the total number of Lethality Assessment Protocol (LAP) screenings conducted during the year (Figure 1).
- From January 2021-December 2021, there were 5 Intimate Partner Violence homicides that occurred in the City of Pittsburgh (Figure 7).
- Zone 5 experienced the greatest number of Intimate Partner Violence calls (371 calls, 24%) (Figure 2).
 - Zone 4 experienced the lowest number of Intimate Partner Violence calls (174 calls, 11%) (Figure 2).
- Majority of IPV calls in 2021 occurred during the nightshift (463 calls, 30%) (Figure 3).
- Majority of Intimate Partner Violence Incidents occurred on Sundays (273 calls, 18%) (Figure 4).
- Majority of Lethality Assessment Protocol (LAP) Screenings were conducted on-scene of an incident (895 LAPs, 58%) (Figure 5).
 - The Domestic Violence Unit conducted 87 LAPs (6%) after the initial incidents occurred (Figure 5).
 - 469 victims (30%) declined to take part in the Lethality Assessment Protocol after an Intimate Partner Violence incident occurred (Figure 5).
- Of the 1,549 Intimate Partner Violence incidents that occurred during this timeframe, 808 (52%) resulted in a subsequent arrest on-scene of the incident (Figure 6).
 - Zone 3 had the greatest number of on-scene IPV arrests with 180 total arrests (12%) (Table 3).
 - 331 total actors (21%) were subsequently arrested following the execution of a warrant from an Intimate Partner Violence incident (Figure 6).
- 7 Pittsburgh Bureau of Police Officers were injured during a response to an IPV Incident this year (Table 10).
- Majority of victims who took part in the Lethality Assessment Protocol screened in as High Danger (735 High Danger Screens, 47%) (Table 13).
- The Domestic Violence Unit completed 2,672 follow-up calls during the course of the year (Table 14).

*Note: All percentages in this report are rounded up to next whole number. This was calculated using the hundredth place of a calculated decimal. Percentages less than 10 were calculated using the thousandth place of a calculated decimal.

Note: In 2021, there were 12 incidents where an LAP was completed after a call for service where the incident did not meet the requirements of an Intimate Partner Violence incident as outlined in the Lethality Assessment Protocol (LAP) (see page 4). These incidents are labeled as "Family Relationships/Not IPV" in the above graph, as well as subsequent graphs. These 12 calls for service were not included in the overall statistics of the Domestic Violence Unit.

Note 2: In 2021, the Domestic Violence Unit investigated 9 cases that occurred in 2020 but were reported in 2021. These cases may have been delayed in reporting or further investigation led them to be assigned to the Domestic Violence Unit. As these 9 cases were assigned to, and investigated by, DVU detectives in 2021, these cases are included in the overall Domestic Violence Unit statistics.

Note 3: 'OSC' refers to incidents that occurred "Outside City Limits". These incidents were investigated by the Domestic Violence Unit and were discovered to have occurred outside the city through further investigation.

Lethality Assessment Protocol Screenings Conducted with Victim

The Maryland Lethality Assessment Protocol (LAP) is an identification tool used to determine which victims of Intimate Partner Violence are at the highest risk of being seriously injured or killed by their intimate partners.

Utilizing a series of questions answered during victim interviews, first responders are able to make a determination on the level of danger a victim of Intimate Partner Violence is currently experiencing.

The LAP is used to determine lethality levels only in cases of Intimate Partner Violence and is not used in cases where the victim and actor's relationship is familial or non-intimate partner. LAPs were not completed in cases of Homicide.

Note: 'LAP was Unable to be Administered' refers to victims who were unable to be contacted by unit detectives in order for the LAP to be administered. Several investigations remain ongoing and the status of contact with a victim is likely to change after the publication of this report.

The graphs below outline the total number of Intimate Partner Violence Arrests that were made during each month of this report. These figures are most accurate at the time this report has been compiled and they are subject to change after the listed publication date.
